DEPTH OF INFAMY [SOUNDED BY BARRY AFTER CONVENTION

Says He Did Not Know Facts
When He Promised Support.

Quotes Other Papers of District About it.

THAT SENATORIAL ARGUMENT.

Hon. E. Barry returns to the attack in this week's issue of the Tribune-Democrat, offers to furnish affidavits to back up his assertion that the Second senatorial district convention was bought up and quotes from the Mayfield Messenger, Smithland Banner, Calloway Times, Clinton Gazette, Arlington Courier and Carlisle County News in support of his accusations.

He says editorially:

The News-Democrat of May 9 made a few "brief remarks," in a labored effort, covering two columns of space, made a lame and weak effort to cover up some of the rottenness of the recent senatorial, so-called, convention. In all that two columns of labored effort we can find only one truth expressed therein; and that was, that "Barry publicly expressed himself for Eaton, at the close of the convention. We will say that at that time Barry did not know the depth, the height, the width nor length of the infamous damnable tricks resorted to to bring about the nomination. No man, who has any self-respect whatever, could do less than he has done, especially after the false statements were made by the News-Democrat as to the reasons of his defeat. The statement that "the only delegates that were drunk were Barry delegates" is a falsehood out of whole cloth, as the writer of that article well knows. But he says that "Barry should know that political conventions are not conducted after the manner of Sunday schools." This, to the mind of the News-Democrat editor is sufficient excuse for any and all treachery, corrupt use of money and whisky. But what better moral code could be expected from such a source? As to the mysterious and unauthentic accounts of bribery, or attempted bribery, we will say that we are prepared with written and signed statements to make very specific statements when the right time comes. As to waiting a week, before making the statements, in answer to the News-Democrat's falsehoods, printed the next morning after the convention, we simply say that Barry publishes a weekly paper and not a daily. The News-Democrat contrasts Barry's position with that of Wyatt and Moore, and says that they are both perfectly satisfied. Why should they not be satisfied? They helped to accomplish what they were procured to do. According to the News-Democrat, "John M. Moore was largely instrumental in bringing about the result; and we know J. B. Wyatt had as much or more to do with bringing about the nomination of Mr. Eaton than did Mr. Moore. As to the little slurs of the News-Democrat at Barry about being "sore" and a sulker, we will only say that he, in common with thousands of the best Democrats of the district, is indignant, and refuses to become a party to this corrupt and degrading transaction. Mr. Eaton is not the Democratic nominee of the Second district, but is the nominee of the whisky interests of Paducah. There is not a Democratic paper in the district that has not denounced that so-called convention as a fraud and a stain on the nostrils of all decent people. Of course, the whisky organ of Paducah stands by its offspring; but that sheet has no politics of any kind; as it is only run in the interest of the wholesale whisky people and saloons of Paducah. Read what the Arlington Courier, Carlisle County News, Clinton Gazette, Livingston Banner, Mayfield Messenger and Calloway Times have to say about your convention. They have no cause to be sore or disappointed. These good papers are only interested in decency and the success of the Democratic party. All these good Democratic papers have lined up with the Tribune-Democrat, and some of them have denounced that infamous force in more scathing terms than has this paper. So far as poor Jack Fisher is concerned, we only reiterate, we are only sorry for Jack.

Arlington Courier.

The Arlington Courier of May 1, a week after the convention, has the following editorial, written by the editor, who was present during the whole proceedings of the convention: "People are fools. We get some crazy idea into our heads and hold it like a nigger to a superstition. We let people rob us and then tell 'em

END OF CONTEST.

Tomorrow ends the contest for cash prizes for the best and second best improved private premises and for the flag for the best improved school grounds. Monday the judges will inspect the premises entered in the contests and award the prizes. The first cash prize is $35 and the second $15. The neighborhood class of house and style are not considered, but just the improvements made since April 1.

CHARGE TOBACCO TRUST DEFRAUDED BY FALSE WEIGHT

Washington, May 14.—By amendment to the tariff bill introduced by Senator Beveridge it is sought to increase the internal revenue tax on manufactured tobacco and force the tobacco trust to restore sacks of tobacco to the same size as before the war tax. Beveridge also helped along a plan to take the tax off leaf tobacco.

Washington, May 14.—Charging the government lost $184,000,000 in the last eight years, which might have been collected in revenue from tobacco and of this $128,000,000 had gone into the pockets of the tobacco trust, because of its continued sale of short weight packages. Beveridge, of Indiana, today offered an amendment to the tariff increasing the rate on the tobacco schedule.

Beveridge described the tobacco trust as being the most effective private monopoly in existence. Within five hours from the time the amendment was introduced, he said, the trust had its ablest men in Washington fighting it. The amendment increases the present rate on chewing and smoking and fine cut tobacco from six to nine cents pound.

Divers Arriving

H. N. Stancil, of New Orleans, a marine diver of great renown, arrived in the city today with his diving outfit and will help with the work of bulkheading the steamer Georgia Lee. Another diver is expected tonight or tomorrow and the work of building a bulkhead will begin Monday. Charles Brockman, a marine diver from the south, has been here several days and has made several investigations of the boat under the water. The hatches were all battened down today by the divers. It will be about four or five weeks before the Georgia Lee is again on the ways. The cradles of the marine ways that were all swept into the river when the Georgia Lee sank have been recovered and placed on the tracks.

Boy Robs Mother

Bardwell, Ky., May 14. (Special.)—An unusual case of filial ingratitude came to light when Ed Hayden, son of Mrs. Sarah E. Hayden disappeared from Berkeley, Carlisle county, this week, taking with him $487.27, back pension paid his mother and all she possessed. She deposited it in the First National bank at Bardwell, subject to checks signed "Sarah E. Hayden, by Ed Hayden." The boy checked out $360, which he said was to be paid to H. L. Mosby, of Arlington, for land. The remainder of the money was checked out in small amounts. Mr. Mosby said he never sold the boy any land. It is said Hayden purchased a 1,000 mile ticket at Cairo.

A Bad Reformer.

Columbus, Ind., May 14.—Attorney Charles Caldwell, who forwarded the papers to the supreme court to oust Secretary of State Knox, had a narrow escape from being hung last night by irate farmers near Elizabethtown. It was charged he made an attempt to entice a 16-year-old girl. He was found this morning and arrested before the farmers heard he had been caught. Caldwell was sued for divorce by his wife, making sensational charges.

We like it. We let a handful of onery, dirty scheming rascals take our rights as citizens and then pledge our support to them. Newspapers are more than all other forces to blame for this. They fight the nomination of a man, and yet the instant he comes out winner as a result of his infamous dealing they flop over and lie about 'what a clean convention,' 'unanimously elected by the people.' If any man dares say he don't like being robbed then he's a

Paducah Decked in Confederate Colors in Honor of Unveiling of Monument to Gen. Lloyd Tilghman

Party Arrives From New York to Attend Ceremonies at Confederate Circle Tomorrow.

Stars and bars of the Confederacy and Old Glory were on every hand today, and the business district presented a gay appearance in its decorations for the unveiling of the Tilghman Statue in Confederate circle tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The city has been decorated extensively for the unveiling, and tomorrow the entire city will take part in the unveiling of the monument. The program will be carried out as announced. The parade will start at 2 o'clock and will reach the park shortly before 3 o'clock. Almost every automobile in the city will be in line, as the owners of cars have responded to the request for the use of their machines.

The Tilghman party arrived this morning from New York in a special car, and are at the Palmer House. Others will arrive tonight. In the party are: David F. Butcher, of New York; Charles W. Turner, of New York; Henry H. Kitson, of Boston, the sculptor; Sidell Tilghman, of New York; Oswald Tilghman, of Baltimore; F. B. Tilghman, of New York, and Lloyd Tilghman Boyd, of Milwaukee. Many Confederate veterans will be in attendance at the unveiling exercises. Col. Charles J. Jarrett, of Hopkintonville, but a former Paducah citizen, will be the guest of Captain Harrison Watts, of Jefferson boulevard. Colonel Jarrett was a member of the staff of General Tilghman. Capt. H. A. Tyler, of Hickman, will arrive for the dedication. Colonel and Mrs. Collier, of Memphis, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Armour Gardner, while Miss Bettie Garland and her niece, Miss Betsy Garland, of Clarksville, Tenn., arrived this morning with the Tilghman party. Mrs. William Howe, of Nashville, will be the guest of Mrs. Robert B. Phillips, and Mrs. Samuel Shackelford, of Frankfort, will be the guest of Mrs. Harry G. Tandy and Mrs. Edmund P. Noble.

The buttons of the Confederacy will be a feature tomorrow and every person in the city is expected to be decorated with one. Postcards, containing a view of the monument, are on sale at the book stores and will be sold on the streets tomorrow. The buttons are of neat design, and to be without one will be conspicuous.

Spotting Landmarks.

Much of today was spent by Frederick Boyd Tilghman and Sidell Tilghman, the only two surviving sons of General Lloyd Tilghman, in going about the city and spotting out old landmarks. They lived in Paducah as mere boys, and left the city in 1865 for New York, but a few of the old buildings are still standing and were recalled easily by the two brothers. The old frame building on Broadway adjoining Clements' book store served as a reminder of days, while the Hughes home, 613 Broadway, was their home when they removed from Paducah.

Along the river bank they found bits of scenes of the days when Paducah was a small river town. The ice factory served as the Grimes hotel when they were lads. Other old houses brought back childhood their childhood thoughts. The Messrs. Tilghman were surprised at the rapid growth of Paducah, and said Paducah had much of the hustling spirit of the north. In fact the only southern city to surpass Paducah they thought was Jacksonville, Fla. They are retired business men of New York and contributed the major part of the money necessary for the erection of the monument containing the statue of General Lloyd Tilghman.

From Paducah the Messrs. Tilghman, H. Kitson, the sculptor, and party will leave for Vicksburg, where they will visit the Champion Hill battlefield, where General Tilghman lost his life May 16, 1863. The dedication of the monument is really in commemoration of the anniversary of his death, although the formal dedication will be held tomorrow afternoon instead of Sunday, the anniversary.

Mr. Oswald Tilghman, who is with the party, is a cousin of General Lloyd Tilghman, and at one time was aide-de-camp on his staff. Under the last administration in Maryland he served as secretary of state. Mr. D. F. Butcher is one of the leading lawyers of New York city and a director in the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Mr. Charles W. Turner is a prominent member of the New York stock exchange. Mr. Lloyd Tilghman Boyd is a prominent newspaper man of Milwaukee, being general manager of the Milwaukee Journal.

Other members of the party will arrive tonight. General and Mrs. Austin Coolidge, of Detroit, will arrive. General Coolidge is a retired army officer, and Mrs. Coolidge is a niece of General Tilghman. Mrs. Bettie Garland, Mrs. Hickman Johnson and Misses Johnson will arrive from Clarksville, Tenn. Mrs. Garland is a literary woman and poet of note, and has written a poem for the dedication.

CULBERTSON SAYS SENATORS RAISED PAYNE SCHEDULE

Washington, May 14.—Tariff on hundreds of articles are higher in the Aldrich bill than in the Dingley law, according to the tabulated statement filed in the senate today by Culbertson, of Texas. When the Aldrich bill had been reported the Democratic senators employed experts to make an analysis of the measure. It shows the Dingley rate has been increased in 17 paragraphs of the metal schedule, covering a great variety of articles.

Kermit Got Lost

Nairobi, May 14.—News filtered into Nairobi today from the Roosevelt camp that Kermit was lost the entire night a few nights ago and wandered in the wilderness until daylight before he got his bearings. He arrived in camp just as a party was ready to start in search of him.

D. A. R. Fountain Ready for Unveiling

Wrapped in white the D. A. R. fountain, Fifth street and Broadway, is ready for the unveiling ceremony Wednesday afternoon. The license for the use of the custom house yard and the bond for the removal within thirty days at the request of the government have arrived and the bond was signed by Mrs. E. G. Boone, resident of the chapter, Wallace Weil, E. G. Boone, F. G. Rudolph and F. M. Fisher. The fountain was placed in position by J. B. Williamson & Sons. The connection with the water mains was made today.

The fountain, the design for which was given by Lorado Taft, cost the D. A. R. about $1,500 and the city $500. The design would have cost $1,200 more, had it not been donated. The unveiling will be impressive, with 2,000 school children singing America and the little children of the chapter pulling the veil, which will be of red, white and blue. The children are Virginia Hart, Elizabeth Tandy, Charlotte Wheeler, Inez Ayers, Helen Pulliam, Frances Soule and Dorothy Fowler. They will give a drill before the ceremony.

The school children will stand in Fifth street between Broadway and the Elks building, which will be roped off for them.

Mr. E. G. Boone will have charge of the ceremonies. The program will be:

National airs, by Deal's band.
Invocation, by the Rev. G. T. Sullivan.
Presentation, by Mr. Saunders Fowler.
Acceptance, by Mayor James P. Smith.

Addresses by Charles K. Wheeler, Lorado Taft, Mrs. C. D. Chenault, of Lexington, on state work, and Mrs. Sallie Marshall Hardy, of Louisville, on the national work.

Seats inside the government reservation will be reserved for the D. A. R. and husbands. The platform will be exclusively for the speakers.

Nine Killed.

FIVE THOUSAND BAPTISTS MEET IN LOUISVILLE

Old Officers of Southern Baptist Convention Re-Elected.

B. Y. P. U. Chooses Officers
For the Year.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION.

Louisville, Ky., May 14.—The first business which concerned the Southern Baptist convention which opened at the First Regiment armory was the re-election of practically its entire official roster. This was done with unanimity. The officers are:

Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, Md., president; J. B. Marvin, of Kentucky, B. F. Riley, of Texas, James Allen Scott, of Oklahoma, and T. H. Bush, of Alabama, vice-presidents; D. P. Lansing Burrows, of Tennessee, and Oliver F. Gregory, of Virginia, secretaries; George W. Norton, of Kentucky, treasurer, and W. P. Harvey, of Kentucky, auditor.

Three Thousand Delegates Present.
In the armory were seated upward of 5,000 persons, of whom 3,000 were delegates to the convention, when Mr. Levering opened it. Devotional services and hymns preluded business, the invocation being delivered by George W. Truett, of Dallas, Texas.

After the election President E. Y. Mullins, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, of Louisville, welcomed the delegates in a brief speech, the chief applause during which came when he read from the poem entitled "In Kentucky."

The Baptist Young People's Union adopted unanimously the report of the nominating committee, electing the following officers:

W. W. Hamilton, of Lynchburg, Va., and Atlanta, Ga., president; W. B. Moore, of Oklahoma, first vice-president; William Russell Owen, of Baltimore, second vice-president; R. H. Coleman, of Texas, third vice-president; L. P. Leavelle, of Mississippi, recording secretary; T. J. Watts, of Kentucky, treasurer. State vice-presidents at large: Austin Crough, of Alabama; H. L. Winburn, of Arkansas; R. Vandewater, of Georgia; C. W. Duke, of Florida; R. C. Ware, of Kentucky; C. V. Edwards, of Louisiana; H. E. Gambrell, of Maryland; A. C. Kimbrough, of Mississippi; J. E. Hampton, of Missouri; W. C. Barrett, of North Carolina; H. B. Hale, of South Carolina; J. B. Rounds, of Oklahoma; E. H. Rolston, of Tennessee.

Assembled to Be Millionaire.
The Woman's Missionary Union, the sessions of which will be held Sunday, reported that during its 21 years of existence, without the aid of one male creature, $1,849,672.98 was raised. The union has 150,000 members.

Joseph N. Shenstone, of Toronto, Ont., whose declaration simply made that he intended to devote his great fortune to missionary work, stirred the laymen, added another electric shock when he said quietly:

"I would be ashamed to be worth a million."

Mr. Shenstone was again the feature of the program perhaps, but the reports from the various states were of great interest.

Mr. Shenstone said that Canada was now giving $500,000 a year for missions and Dr. Mullins ended the report with a general address concerning what the seminary has done for laymen in the south.

The Southern Baptist Education society, at a final meeting, elected the following officers: R. T. Patrick, of Marion, Ala., president; C. M.

SAVED OWN CHILD.
New York, May 14.—Lying seriously hurt in the Norwegian hospital today Policeman James Lambert learned, on regaining consciousness, that in rescuing a child playing in the street from beneath a runaway horse he saved the life of his own daughter. Lambert was dragged blocks.

Potetot, of Greenville, S. C., vice-president; W. R. Rivers, of Conway, Ark., secretary. An executive committee is to be announced later.

Louisville, May 14.—At the Baptist convention reports from home and foreign mission boards and the Sunday school board show the largest number of converts in the mission field in one year, and an increase in foreign mission contributions of $58,000, the best financial records ever made by the Sunday schools, 24,628 baptisms during the past year, and the largest number of Baptisms reported one year by home mission board.

HANGED HIMSELF BECAUSE RIDERS THREATENED HIM

Union City, Tenn., May 14.—Mansfield Hareless committed suicide last night by hanging himself to a rafter in his barn. He received many threats as the result of being on the grand jury, indicting night riders. It is believed he brooded over them. These facts gave rise to a report that night riders murdered him for revenge.

Fehringer Indicted.

Union City, Tenn., May 14.—A reliable report reached here that the grand jury of Fulton county, Kentucky, has indicted Frank Fehringer, the state's star witness in the night rider cases, for complicity in the murder of the Walker family of negroes at Brownsville, a small village near Hickman, last summer. The indictment, it is presumed, grew out of Fehringer's confession here in court when he turned state's evidence. The Kentucky authorities have been severely criticised for doing nothing to ferret out the perpetrator of the atrocious crime, but rather sneered at Governor Patterson's efforts. Governor Patterson will not likely honor a requisition for Fehringer, who has been the best witness ever placed on the stand in a criminal case in this county. Fehringer was taken to Nashville by a detachment of soldiers and will be held there for safe keeping until the night rider trials inquiry is held.

For Quake Refugees.

Rome, May 14.—Duke Dillita today sent an Italian inspector of immigration to his big estate on the Manatee river, Florida, to study the economic, hygienic conditions with reference to the proposed colonization of 5,000 earthquake sufferers. The duke proposes to permit quake victims to farm on the shores.

YOUR FRIEND'S HELP WILL COME WHEN YOU SHOW YOU CAN WORK

OLD AESOP HIT THE NAIL ON THE HEAD IN FABLE.

Gods Help Them That Help Themselves.

YOUR FRIENDS ARE THE GODS

Get in the game and get in NOW. Don't wait to see how the others start off. Of course the pace will be too hot for you if you give the other fellow a start.

You know you think the prize list is the finest you ever saw. You know you want that automobile, the cash, a piano, or some of the other plums that will go to the hustlers.

But don't take it out in wishing. Old Aesop, who was a pretty wise old Greek has something to say about sitting down and trying to wish and pray yourself into prosperity. His fable on the subject runs in this wise:

"As a wagoner was driving his wain through a miry lane, the wheels stuck fast in the clay, and the horses could get on no further. The man dropped on his knees and began crying and praying to Hercules with all his might to come and help him. 'Lazy fellow,' said Hercules, 'get up and stir yourself. Whip your horses stoutly and put your shoulder to the wheel. If you want my help then you shall have it.'"

And then the old moralizer draws the lesson:

"THE GODS HELP THEM THAT HELP THEMSELVES."

All of which has an obvious and direct bearing on your candidacy in The Paducah Evening Sun and Associate Newspapers' Great Voting Contest. The prizes are there to be won, and are the best that were ever offered, but you can't win by wishing. Take the plunge—swim for yourself—and maybe the gods will take a stroke or two for you.

In this case the gods are your friends. Real live, flesh-and-blood gods.

HOW TO START.

"What must I do to begin?" asks the fair candidate who is a stranger to the methods of up-to-date newspaper contests.

The answer is easy. Clip the coupons from today's issue of The Sun; fill them out and mail them to the Contest Department of The Sun. You will then be sent complete instructions on how to conduct your campaign, with materials for playing the game properly.

It doesn't cost anything to get in the game, and it doesn't cost the CANDIDATE anything at any stage of the campaign. It will cost your friends subscriptions later on, but in every case they are getting their money's worth and more too of live newspaper, and they are glad to come across for your assistance.

But before the subscription part comes in there is a FREE way of voting way up into the thousands—that is by the use of the coupons which are made big at the start of the contest for the benefit of those who appreciate the necessity of getting into the game at the beginning.

HELP

GIVEN LOYALLY IN CONSTRUCTION OF GOOD SHEPHERD.

Bricklayers, Carpenters and Neighbors Assist in Rushing Work of Mission.

The Rev. E. C. McAllister, pastor of the Good Shepherd House, Arcadia, is receiving hearty co-operation in the work of building the new edifice that keeps his embarrassed to find ways of expressing his thanks. Bricklayers' Union, No. 4, laid 24 big pillars for the house yesterday, so that the carpenters, who are also contributing their work, can commence Monday. Jacob Seamon was foreman and

F. M. Lovelace, Allen Rawlinson, Benjie Price, Gus Katterjohn and John W. Farrell got the foundation up in a hurry. They came so unexpectedly and worked so fast that hospitality was strained, but the women of the church rallied to the aid of the minister and feasted the workmen on all the good things they could compound. Two neighbors contributed teams and others gave necessary equipment for the use of the bricklayers.

JUDGE WM. REED IS MENTIONED

Paducah Jurist Spoken of For Appellate Bench.

Opposition to Judge Nunn Seems to Be Certain—Many Candidates in Field.

FIRST DISTRICT APPELLATE.

Louisville, Ky., May 14.—According to information gleaned from Western Kentucky from a group of prominent Democratic politicians of that section, who are stopping at the Seelbach, Appellate Judge Thomas J. Nunn, of the First district, is going to have anything but an easy sailing in his race for a renomination which is a little more than a year away.

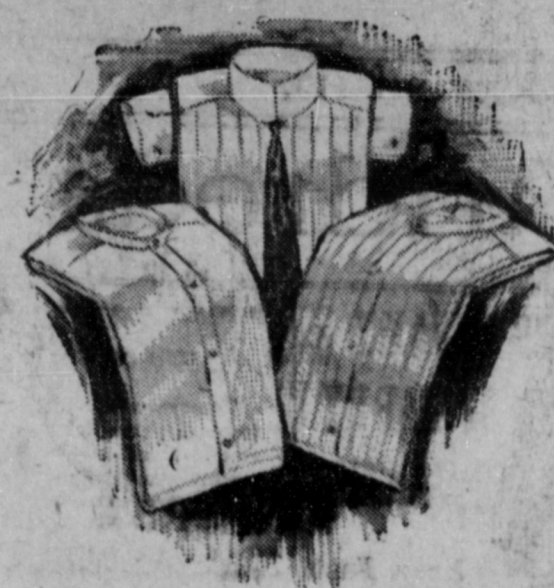

Recently the strongest kind of opposition to Judge Nunn has developed in the district, according to reports, which is said to be due to his affiliation with the liquor element of the party. He is said to have received his last nomination through a combination of influences in which this element played a dominating part.

Judge Nunn is now completing his first term on the appellate bench. He is accredited one of the most astute politicians hailing from the Par-

This little lady is beautiful, accomplished and talented—and young as she is has earned an enviable reputation among the best artists in the theatrical profession; and all who may wish to regale themselves with the charming productions arranged for the Casino this week will undoubtedly add their praises to the many that Miss Scott has been recipient of.

chase, and besides fixing his fences for a renomination, he is said to have his weather eye on the Democratic nomination for governor.

Since Judge Nunn has been on the appellate bench his district is said to have had a remarkable growth in the temperance movement, and now many of his constituents are declaring they will support only a temperance nominee.

The Judge is said to be on the anxious seat just now, and his friends are insisting upon an early primary, while the temperance advocates are equally firm in insisting that the nomination be made early next spring, probably at Paducah. According to reports the woods are full of candidates in opposition to Judge Nunn. Among those whose names are being mentioned in this connection are Circuit Judge William Reed, of Paducah; Circuit Judge J. W. Henson, of Webster county; Attorney Gus Thomas, of Mayfield; Circuit Judge Thomas P. Cook, of Calloway; Judge Hugh, of Hopkinsville, and Judge Gordon, of Madisonville.

Wallerstein Says:

Paducah is Proud of the Handsome Monument to Be Unveiled Tomorrow

And we are proud indeed of the remarkable values which we have to offer to our patrons this season. Value is a much-used word in advertising; and often misused. You want value; it isn't so much the price you pay for clothes as it is the clothes you get for the price. There are a good many men who are quite willing to spend $20 or $25 for a suit this spring who are not willing to spend more.

We're making a special point just now of extra good clothes for that kind of men; we're putting before them a line of goods that are not to be matched in any other clothing store; more real value in the clothes—in the fabrics, the linings and trimmings, the shapely models, the unusual tailoring—than $20 or $25 ever bought before.

If you have that price to spend you'd better see these suits; they're specially made for us—"Roxboro" and Hart, Schaffner & Marx makes—and you know what that means in quality of materials, workmanship, etc.

We'll not neglect you if you are looking for higher priced clothes. We sell more suits at $30, $35 and $40 than any other concern in Paducah; the merits of our finest goods attract the critical buyers, the best dressers. They're the best clothes possible.

For the smart, dressy young fellow we have a special line, such as they want; very extreme styles; $12.50 to $30.

We have an unusually good line of men's suits at $15; all wool or worsted, 100 per cent pure; the patterns are good, the styles right, well tailored; we can fit you.

For boys, also, a full showing of extra quality double-service clothes from $3.50 to $12.50; unusual values.

Wash suits, for the little fellows; an endless variety; great values, $1 to $5

Straw Hats

The values which we show this season in Straw Hats are far superior to any of our previous showings. Extra value at $2. The Ludlow at $3. Knox at $4 and $5. They are shown in all shapes decreed by Fashion. If you're "just looking," we'll be glad to show them to you.

Lorex Shirts

Speaking of values, notice the new "Lorex" idea shown in our corner window. Shirt, (regular $1.50 value) 2 collars and a tie to match; all for $1.50. This is an entirely new feature, in shirt making, shown only by the more exclusive shops in the large cities.

Underwear You'll need light weight underwear now; plenty of excellent values here. $1 and $2 the suit, balbriggans, lises and nainsook; athletic, short or long sleeve shirts; knee or ankle length drawers. UNION SUITS—The most complete line shown in Paducah. The new Scrivens elastic seam; athletic nainsook is great for hot weather comfort. Vassar union suits, the most perfect fitting knit union suits, $1 to $3.50.

U. C. V. We cordially invite you and your friends to call upon us to serve you in any way we can while you are here. Make our store your headquarters. . . .

DEBATE AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

Between Cairo and Paducah Debating Teams.

Commencement Address on "Way and Worth of Living" is Announced.

MAYFIELD STUDENTS ARE HERE

All is in readiness for the inter-school debate tonight at the High school auditorium between representatives of the Cairo High school and the Paducah High school. The Cairo speakers, Dewight Ohlson and Kenzy Goldsmith, with eight Cairo rooters, arrived this morning, while other Cairo people will arrive tonight on the train and by boat. The subject, "Resolved, That the United States Navy Should Be Increased," is timely. Paducah will have the affirmative side, while Cairo will defend the negative.

The auditorium has been decorated in the school colors for the debate, and will present a pleasing appearance. Superintendent Carnagey and Prof. W. H. Sugg stated this morning that they desire the parents to attend the debate tonight. A large attendance of school children and friends of the school and Cairo rooters is promised, but one object is to get out the older citizens, to visit the school and become acquainted. The program, it is announced, will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Commencement Address.

"The Way and Worth of Living" will be the subject of the address to the 1909 High school graduating class by Dr. S. M. Jefferson, a member of the faculty of Transylvania university, of Lexington. The subject was received this morning by Superintendent J. A. Carnagey in response to a request. The subject indicates that the address will be full of advice to the young graduates in their future life.

Will Watch Divers.

Under the care of Prof. A. C. Burton, superintendent of the Mayfield schools, 15 students of the science department of the Mayfield schools arrived this morning. The students came to Paducah to watch the divers in their work of raising the steamer Georgia Lee and will visit other industrial plants in the city to see the principles of science in practical operation.

Educational Association.

Programs for the Kentucky Educational association, which will meet at Estlin Springs, June 22, 23 and 24, have been received by Paducah school teachers. It is probable that Paducah will be represented at the meeting. Miss Adah L. Brazelton, of the mathematics department of the High school, is a member of the committee, which composed a uniform course of study for the state High schools. The committee is composed of some of the leading educators of the state.

Prof. W. A. Evans, of the science department of the High school, is on the program for a discussion of the address by State Superintendent J. G. Crabbe on "Word for Our County High Schools." Superintendent Carnagey also is on the program for a paper on "Teachers' Meetings."

Rehearsals of the junior play, "My Lord in Livery," which will be given May 28, are under way and the play promises to be a success.

The judges of the debate will be: Prof. F. C. Browder, superintendent of schools in Metropolis; Prof. A. C. Burton, superintendent of schools in Mayfield, and Hon. Lat D. Threlkeld, of Smithland.

CHICAGO CHARTER BILL IS KILLED

But Motion to Reconsider Made Special Order.

Illinois House Agrees to Quorum—Senate Agrees to Do No Business Fridays.

THE SENATE IS IN A PICKLE.

Springfield, Ill., May 14.—The senate killed the consolidated Chicago charter bill, the vote for the bill being 16, while 17 votes were cast against the measure. A motion to reconsider the vote was made a special order for next Wednesday.

The senate passed Gardner's bill authorizing local independent telephone companies to consolidate, and Hurlburt's bill authorizing city councils to pass ordinances requiring the selling of vegetables and fruit by weight instead of measure.

Swamp Lands.

The house passed Chipperfield's bill which declares that the right within the meander line in all rivers and other streams and lakes in the state is vested in the state of Illinois, and providing for the prosecution of any person or persons or corporations who shall take possession of any submerged lands without the authority of the state and that in case the attorney general refuses to proceed against such person or persons or corporation, on the filing of a petition signed by one hundred legal voters of a county with the circuit clerk with sufficient cost bonds, proceedings can be commenced by any one of the petitioners to oust the parties having taken possession of the submerged lands.

The house put the senate in a pickle at noon. The senate has a gentlemen's agreement not to work on Fridays, and heretofore on Thursdays there has been an understanding during the joint assembly that no quorum would be present on Friday in the senate.

The speaker refused to take any responsibility for what might happen tomorrow. He referred to the fact that notice had been given that no business would be permitted to the house on Fridays unless a quorum was present. A standing vote was called for to determine how many would be present tomorrow and only sixty responded. Mr. Kirkpatrick was asked whether he would insist on a quorum tomorrow and he said he certainly would. Finally it was suggested that the roll be called and those who would agree to be present would be recorded. Eighty-one promised to be there, thus insuring a quorum in the house.

To protect their rights and prevent the election of a United States senator tomorrow the members of the upper house will either have to be present or make pairs with the house members insuring the breaking of a quorum on United States senator.

SCRAPE PLANT BEDS IN CRITTENDEN COUNTY.

Report of Several Depredations Committed Over the Rivers.

According to reports from the Black Patch night riders have continued their depredations in Crittenden county. The plant beds of Charley Wring, Wes Grimes, Guy Grimes, Henry Grimes, Jim Simpkins, F. Howard, John Butler, Dave Brown and A. M. Long, who reside east of Salem, were scraped. Bloodhounds were secured from Morganfield, and the trail was followed to the Cumberland river at Dyersburg, but the owner would not trust the dogs across the river for fear of violence. Previous warnings had not been sent the farmers, and the depredation was entirely unexpected.

Apparently Elinor Glyn thinks about as much of America as America thinks of "Three Weeks."

DECLINE IN TRADE OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

Trade conditions in practically all sections of the commercial world show a decline, measured in values of merchandise imported and exported, as compared with those of a year ago. The latest figures received by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show that both imports and exports fall below those of last year in a very large proportion of the countries for which it has statements.

The bureau of statistics receives reports of the monthly or quarterly imports and exports of practically all the commercial countries of the world, and is thus able to compare trade conditions in the last month or the accumulated months of the year with corresponding periods of preceding years. These figures show smaller sums as the total value of the imports of a large proportion of countries, and in most cases a decline also on the export side. The imports of the United Kingdom, for example, in the nine months ending with March, 1909, amounted to 2,194 million dollars, against 2,328 millions in the corresponding months of the preceding year; and the exports of domestic products in the same months amounted to 1,343 million dollars, against 1,552 millions in the corresponding months of the preceding year. Imports into Germany in the twelve months ending with December, 1908, amounted in value to 1,980 million dollars, against 2,082 millions in the preceding twelve months; the exports in the same period amounted to 1,607 million dollars, against 1,630 millions in the preceding twelve months. Russia shows slight gains in imports. France and Italy show increases on both the import and export sides. The imports into France in the two months ending with February, 1909, were quoted at 216½ million dollars, against 203½ millions in the corresponding months of the preceding year; exports 167 millions, against 145 millions in the corresponding months of the preceding year. Italy for the month of January, 1909, shows imports 51 millions, against 44 millions in January, 1908; exports 23 millions, against 26 millions in January, 1908.

against 26½ millions in January, 1908.

This fall in the value of imports and exports of the principal countries of the world is probably due in part to lower prices of the principal articles forming commerce. While it can not, of course, be said that 1909 prices are lower in every article than those of 1908, the figures of the bureau of statistics indicate lower prices in foreign countries in many of the principal articles forming our own import trade, and also a fall in price of certain important articles of our own export trade.

A MAN'S INFLUENCE.

In a very interesting and incisive editorial on "Tolstoy," Theodore Roosevelt says: "I doubt if his influence has really been very extensive among men of action; of course, it has a certain weight among men who live only in the closet, in the library."

That is one side of it; but who is able to trace the waters of a stream to their source in the branches tributary to it? And who can say what influence this or that individual has in the world?

Our men of genius, including Tolstoy, Roosevelt, Bryan and many others, are in part representative products of contemporaneous thought and activities, and in part leaders in the world movements. How far they affect and are affected by conditions after centuries must ascertain. The world is not made up of men of action, or of men of sedentary habits, but of both, and both make up the whole. Some people think Tolstoy goes too far, others think Roosevelt is radical, and many regard Bryan as a dangerous fanatic. No man can be right, further than his knowledge, experience and enthusiasm will permit him. Tolstoy and Bryan see the evils and engage all their attention in fighting the evils. This must be given its due weight and importance in our judgment of them. Maybe Roosevelt's theories and activities would have been entirely destructive, had he not been elevated to a position, where he saw the evil in its true relationship to the good, and became a constructive statesman.

Tolstoy plays his part in the great ethical advance of the age, and an important one, we must admit. His theories could not be expected to please a man of Roosevelt's poise and activity; yet, who knows how much Roosevelt himself has been influenced by the writings of Tolstoy and his school? We ourselves can observe how Roosevelt has greatly changed the current of thought of those men, who hate him most.

Tolstoy's and Bryan's most effective work has been in stirring to greater energy that social unrest, which must eventuate in a world wide, though gradual, social revolution. Agitators come and call them, because they only clamor against the evil and take no stock of existing good; but the agitator is necessary in the social economy. Sometimes the agitators, the cranks, the fanatics, with a leader of sufficient force at the psychological moment, carry the world beyond the point of reason and justice, and then a reaction occurs; but the world never lapses back as far as it was before.

We must maintain our poise, as Mr. Roosevelt says, neither accepting the agitator's extreme views as gospel, nor refusing, by reason of their radicalism, to recognize the evils, which they expose. Thus we will be erect and unembarrassed when the social equilibrium is re-established, resisting alike the impetus of reform and the deadening influence of acquiescence in things as they are.

SOME STORIES AROUND TOWN

A large swarm of bees took charge of the writing room at the New Richmond hotel at noon today and remained in possession of the room for an hour. The swarm began to settle on the outside latch of the door, which opens on First street. There was a small hole in the door just about large enough for one bee to crawl through into the writing room at a time, but it was not long after the first bee entered until the possession of the room was given up to the little honey makers. A temporary hive was made and the bees were put in it and taken away. No one was stung, but a sparrow which was hungry for something to eat in the insect line, became bold and made a dash for the bees gathering on the door and before the intruder could get away a dozen or more of the bees were on the bird's back and stung it.

A story is told by a traveling man of a wild experience at Cairo junction last night while waiting for the train to Paducah to stop. A little bit of specimen of humanity made the whole bunch climb on the train, threatening to shoot with a revolver he never displayed outside his pocket. He said he was going down to make the engineer climb out his cab, too, but the train pulled out without any bloodshed. A. J. Lewis, a traveling optician of St. Louis, said he was on the train with his wife. Several men were walking around the train, stretching their legs, when the little fellow appeared. "Get on the train," he shouted wildly. "I'm going to shoot." There were forty men present, Lewis said, and no one had a gun, so the little man had the whole scene of action to himself. He was the only one parading around outside the train three minutes after he appeared. When he saw everybody had obeyed he staggered off down the track and never came back.

mistaken this morning by a citizen from the rural district, and his comment on the D. A. R. drinking fountain, at Fifth street and Broadway, elicited much amusement among the bystanders. This ruralite sauntered down Broadway and was taking in all the sights of the city. All went well until he reached the postoffice when he spied the statue of the Indian on the drinking fountain. It aroused his curiosity, and after much effort his mind failed to grasp the real meaning of the fountain. Turning to a bystander he asked: "Say there, stranger, tell me what that thing is; never saw anything like it before." He was advised that it was a fountain being erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Evidently the farmer did not quite understand more than it was a fountain, for after a time he drawled: "Looks like those signs of prohibition will take this durned place, for there are already drinking fountains here."

PER CAPITA TAX ON RED MEN CUT

Great Head Council Comes to an End After Two Days.

Middlesboro Wins in Fight for the Next Annual Convention of Red Men.

OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Lexington, Ky., May 14.—The fifteenth annual session of the Kentucky Great Head Council of the Improved Order of Red Men came to a close in this city after passing several important matters in the course of the two days' session. In point of the attendance and business transacted the meeting was the largest and most important in the history of the order in the state.

The most important matter of business transacted aside from the regular work was the adoption of a resolution offering an amendment to the by-laws cutting the per capita tax from one dollar to eighty cents. The question was discussed at length and was then referred to the finance committee who drafted a resolution providing for the reduction. The resolution was read and unanimously approved. The amendment will be submitted at the next meeting which will be held in Middlesboro in 1910 and will have to be approved by that council before it becomes valid.

Officers Are Elected.
During the early hours of the afternoon all interest was centered on the election of great chiefs and great representatives. There was much speculation among the members as to the result of the election and a good many surprises took place. The interest was keen throughout the election and close finishes were witnessed in each contest. The following is the result of the election:

Mr. Joseph H. Kemper, of Mt. Sterling, Great Prophet.
Mr. W. H. McDonald, of Harboursville, Great Sachem.

Mr. Homer H. Northcutt, of Covington, Great Senior Sagamore.
Mr. W. C. Crader, of Louisville, Great Junior Sagamore.

Mr. H. V. Cohn, of Louisville, Great Keeper of Wampum.
Mr. Fred L. Smith, of Lexington, Great Chief of Records.

Mr. William Walker, of Lexington, Great Representative.
Mr. Dan Russell, of Louisville; William Walker, of Lexington, and Dr. B. Myer, of Louisville, delegates to the Great Head Council session of the United States which will be held in Detroit this fall.

Mr. Lee Zveydorff, of Louisville, First Great Zennap.
Middlesboro Wins.

The next in the order of business for the day after the election of officers was the selection of the place for holding the meeting next year. After a good natured wrangle between Elizabethtown, Dawson Springs and Middlesboro the last place was decided on as the place for holding the next meeting. This will be the first time the Head Council has met in any of the mountain cities.

Several years ago the Great National Council passed a law for the establishment of national headquarters. Later it was voted to locate the Long House in Louisville, the Kentucky legislature appropriating $20,000 as a bonus. A question arose as to the power of the national council in taking such action and the matter was never definitely settled. The great head council has $11,000 collected on an assessment last year that is now in the widows' and orphans' fund. These widows and orphans would benefit by the Long House if it were built.

Leave Money as It Is.
The question was brought up at the meeting yesterday and a good many of the members wanted the money given to the fund for the erection of the Long House but it was decided to leave the money in the widows' and orphans' fund. It was decided that in the event of the erection of the house they would give the money to the building fund. It is thought that eventually the obstacles to the establishment of the Long House will be removed and the original plans carried out. Meanwhile the $11,000 will remain at the disposal of the finance committee of the orphans' and widows' fund.

KILL THE GERM OF DANDRUFF

Parisian Sage Will Do It in Two Weeks or Money Back.

Do you know that the time to take care of the hair is when you have hair to take care of.

Baldness is caused by dandruff germs, little, hard working, persistent devils that night and day do nothing but dig into the roots of the hair and sap its vitality.

If you have dandruff, get rid of it before it is too late; before the vitality of the hair root is impaired and baldness appears.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed by Gilbert's drug store to kill all dandruff germs and rid anyone of dandruff in two weeks or money back.

This quick acting hair invigorator is now made and sold in America and at the low price of 50 cents a large bottle is within the reach of all who are afflicted with disgusting and repulsive dandruff.

When you buy a bottle of Parisian Sage you get for your money the most of the best hair tonic in the world.

Parisian Sage grows hair, stops falling and splitting hair and itching scalp.

Society women of refinement prefer Parisian Sage as a dressing because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and brilliant in a few days. It is daintily perfumed, is free from stickiness and grease and will not color the hair.

An amendment to the by-laws was drafted and will also be passed at the next meeting. The amendment is to require the great sachems, past great sachems, chieftains and representatives to answer in person in roll call both days of the great session before they are entitled to a vote.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Magazine Club Has Delightful Afternoon.

A charming Springtime party was the annual open meeting of the Magazine club on Thursday afternoon at the Woman's club house. It was an invitational affair and a number of guests were present in addition to the club members. The assembly room where the program was presented was an attractive picture with the decoration of spring flowers and the many pretty reception toilets.

The delightful program was carried out in an informal way. Miss Mattie Fowler, chairman of the program committee, presided most graciously. Several musical numbers were attractively featured with reading by Miss Anna Bird Stewart.

Miss Hazel Gray, McCandless, of Oil City, Pa., the attractive visitor of Mrs. John McCandless, gave "Berceuse" from the opera "Jocelyn" by Godard, in opening as a violin solo. Miss McCandless is a finished violinist and was charmingly sympathetic in interpretation. She played "Old Folks at Home" for an encore. Miss Faith Langstaff sang "Happy Days" by Stralazski, and "Little Boy Blue" as an encore. Both were ideally suited to the pathos of Miss Langstaff's voice and were beautifully sung. Friml's "Spirit of the Words" was a piano solo by Mrs. Frank Burns. Mrs. Burns is a musical artist and played with exquisite expression and technique. She graciously responded to the enthusiastic encore.

The literary feature of the program was the reading of Miss Anna Bird Stewart. She gave "Mater," the cleverly bright comedy of Percy MacKaye that has had such a New York success, with that inimitable charm that is essentially Miss Stewart's own tangible yet elusive. The reading was in two parts with musical numbers between. The first act emphasized the delightful humor of the play and easily caught the attention of the audience which the concluding acts so realistically given, held to the finish. The magnetic personality of the reader contributed greatly to the charm and spirit of the reading.

The prettily planned refreshments carried out the club colors, white and yellow. Brisk cream in the two colors were served with the individual cakes iced in white with yellow daisies, and yellow and white mints. Each plate was decorated with a white carnation.

Mrs. Samuel Shackelford, of Frankfort, Miss Dorothy Reed, of St. Louis, and Miss Hazel Gray McCandless, of Pennsylvania, were among the out-of-town guests.

MEMORY MENDING.

What Food Alone Can Do For the Memory.

The influence of food upon the brain and memory is so little understood that people are inclined to marvel at it.

Take a person who has been living on improperly selected food and put him upon a scientific diet in which the food Grape-Nuts is largely used and the increase of mental power that follows is truly remarkable.

A Canadian who was sent to Colorado for his health illustrates this point in a most convincing manner:

"One year ago I came from Canada a nervous wreck, so my physician said, and reduced in weight to almost a skeleton and my memory was so poor that conversations had to be repeated that had taken place only a few hours before. I was unable to rest day or night for my nervous system was shattered.

"The change of climate helped me a little but it was soon seen that this was not all that I needed. I required the proper selection of food although I did not realize it until a friend recommended Grape-Nuts to me and I gave this food a thorough trial. Then I knew what the right food could do and I began to change in my feelings and bodily condition.

"This kept up until now after 6 months use of Grape-Nuts all my nervous trouble has entirely disappeared. I have gained in flesh all that I had lost and what is more wonderful to me that anything else my memory is as good as it ever was.

"Grape-Nuts has remade me all over, mind and body, when I never expected to be well and happy again."

Look for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A CHANGE FROM MEAT

Many people eat meat in spite of themselves, feeling that there is nothing to replace it in nourishment. Nothing could be more erroneous. Faust Brand Spaghetti will be found not only the equal of meat in nourishment, but more adaptable from a cooking standpoint and far more economical from a price standpoint.

There is no limit to the preparation of new and tempting dishes with Faust Spaghetti. Its cooking usefulness is remarkable. For any course, for dinner or supper, from Monday to Sunday, it is a perfect food. It can be eaten as a side dish or dessert, or if necessary will replace meat entirely—at the same time producing energy without impairing digestion.

Faust Spaghetti is sold by nearly all grocers at five and ten cents a package. Write today for free book of useful Faust Spaghetti recipes.

CITY SHOULD PAY HUBBARD SALARY, SAYS SOLICITOR

"If you gentlemen wish to confine yourselves to the strict construction of the law and not consider the equity of the moral obligation that you may think imposed upon you, to pay a salary of $65 a month, you will be compelled to pay $50 a month salary."

This is the conclusion of City Solicitor Campbell in his opinion to the general council in regard to the salary of License Inspector Ed Hubbard. The general council adopted a resolution, paying him $65 a month since the first of January, subject to the approval of the solicitor. Mr. Campbell made the ordinance, creating the office, was enacted in 1935 and re-enacted in 1902. When the office was created a policeman was detailed at the regular salary, $50, when the force was raised to $60, the license inspector was, too, until June, 1902, when Inspector J. M. Ezell was allowed $65. Since then that salary has been paid, that being the salary when Ed Hubbard was elected in December.

What Kind of An "Office"?

Once upon a time a child who was asked on an examination paper to define a mountain range, replied, "A large-sized cook stove." The same method of reasoning seems to go with older growth. A recent examination paper at the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale contained the question, "What is the office of the gastric juice?" And the answer on one paper read:

"The stomach."—Everybody's Magazine.

TELEPHONES

WILL BE IN USE ON TENNESSEE DIVISION.

Trouble Experienced Getting All Equipment Installed—Hospital Board.

It is hoped to have the telephone system, which will be used for operating trains on the Illinois Central railroad, in use sometime next week on the Tennessee division. It may be two weeks before the telephones will be in service on the Louisville division. Practically all the work on the system is completed, and the workmen are putting on the finishing touches. Some of the batteries have been delayed in arriving, but the shipment is expected any day, and then the telephone will be placed in use.

The board of the Illinois Central railroad hospital held its regular quarterly meeting this morning. Only routine business was before the board. A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division; J. J. Gaven, superintendent of the Tennessee division; L. E. McCabe, of Princeton; J. J. Gaven, Jr., of Fulton, and J. M. Egan, son of A. H. Egan, and road master of the Tennessee division, were present at the meeting.

MILLIONAIRES LOVE LIBERTY

Senator Bailey Says Court Fines Have No Effect.

They Fine the People—Should Be Sent to Prison, Then Anti-Trust Laws Could Be Enforced.

SAYS PEOPLE WILL TAKE HAND.

Washington, May 14.—Referring directly to the United States Steel Corporation and charging the organization with violating the anti-trust laws of the country, Senator Bailey, in addressing the senate on the tariff bill, declared that if the officers of the law do their duty the steel trust will be dissolved, and that he expected eventually to see this done.

He added that if the present administration fails in its duty in that respect the people of the country would choose other officers to represent them, and he declared his belief that the officers of the steel corporation will be either imprisoned or made fugitives from justice.

"Just put one of these malefactors of great wealth in the penitentiary and you will see the anti-trust law enforced without any further violations," said Bailey.

"Send one of these men who can be found violating either the interstate commerce law on the anti-trust law to the penitentiary and you will stop these violations by others. You cannot do it with fines because when a court fines a trust, the trust fine the people and as long as punishment is measured in dollars and cents they'll continue to violate the law."

"The millionaires," continued Bailey, "value one thing more than his fortune and that is his liberty. He does not love justice. He does not love that peace of mind for which others struggle, but he loves his liberty."

DEPTH OF INFAMY

bolter and a traitor. The people are determined to have a say in management of the country. If we could and would forget party obligations for a few years and send the hoodlums and the bums who have our party in control back to eat their bread in the sweat of their brows, we might retrieve our democracy and rid the grand old Jefferson doctrine of the terrible load of scabs and scoundrels. Democracy must change her course or she'll be buried so deep in the clinkers of perdition the devil himself won't admit his membership.

Respectfully dedicated to the News Democrat and other west Kentucky yellow dog Democratic papers who are clamoring for the amorous affections of a gang of unprincipled booze-fighting politicians by tainting their news columns with flattering reports of a convention which was marked from beginning to end by utter disregard of the people and a determination to rule or ruin."

Carlisle News.
The Carlisle County News, one of the most conservative and solid Democratic papers in west Kentucky, has the following to say:
"The result of that Paducah nomination is not at all satisfactory to the rank and file of the Democratic party in the Second senatorial district, and mutterings against the methods adopted can be heard on all sides. Unquestionably it was a contest in which the wishes of the people were cast aside and the will of the politicians obeyed. As between Barry and Eaton, where is there one man in Carlisle county who conscientiously believes that the latter would have carried it in a primary? Yet Mr. Eaton was declared the nominee, and while we believe he will be elected, his majority will be far below normal."

Livingston Banner.
George W. Landrum, editor of the Livingston Banner, was present during the convention and personally knows of what he says in his paper of May 6. Livingston is not in this senatorial district, but joins both Marshall and McCracken. The Banner is one of the staunchest Democratic papers in the state, and always ready to support any Democratic nominee, that has the semblance of a claim to that title. Following is what it says:

Rotten to the Core.

"We wish some of the advocates of a convention in this county had attended the Paducah convention and took notes of its proceedings where the men at once took control of the convention, notwithstanding the fact they were in a helpless minority, which they soon turned into a working majority, with the sinews of war that control every convention—money—and what they did for Judge Barry was a plenty. One man walked the lobby of the Palmer House on Tuesday night after the convention adjourned until Wednesday at 10 o'clock a. m. and said: 'We have them. Any delegate who wants to go home can get a $100 if he will leave us his proxy. Yes, I will give a $1,000 if necessary before he shall not go home, if he wants to.' Of course we had no proxy to let him have or we would have gone home that night. Money talks in a convention as it did in this instance and notwithstanding the fact that Judge Barry had 75 out of every 100 votes for him, he had the rollers put under him by people who went right into his own camp and had him betrayed in the house of his supposed friends. In a primary election, with only Democrats voting therein Judge Barry would have received twice as many votes as any other two of his opponents. Such is politics and such is the power of money."

Clinton Gazette.
The Clinton Gazette, edited by Ed Walker, one of the most conservative and solid Democrats of this end of the state, and chairman of the Hickman county Democratic committee, has the following editorial in its issue of May 4:

"The Paducah News-Democrat is nonplussed because a number of its county exchanges are outspoken in denunciation of the methods pursued in the Democratic convention at Paducah last week to defeat Judge E. Barry, of Benton, for state senator. The News-Democrat will find, if it will wake up, that the country newspapers have departed from the rule of dancing every time the party whip is popped over their heads. The Democratic party is not so secure even in the Second senatorial district that it can safely pursue tactics which will cost its candidate votes at the general election. Stranger things have happened than the successful revolt of the people against unfair political methods in a district where a nomination is equivalent to an election." Col. Mott Ayres can testify that even in the first legislative district a nomination is not always an assurance of election."

Mayfield Messenger.
The Mayfield Messenger said:

"The editor has been told that it is not good policy for a Democratic paper to take a hand between two Democratic candidates before a primary or a convention. If this is true, we are inclined to the belief that it is equally as bad policy for a Democratic state district committeeman to take a hand between two Democrats for an office. W. A. Berry, of Paducah, is a member of the state executive committee and we believe his action in the senatorial convention values one thing more than his fortune and that is his liberty. He does not love justice. He does not love that peace of mind for which others struggle, but he loves his liberty."

Restored Their Health But Cost Them Nothing

Thousands of stomach and bowel sufferers have found the means of permanent good health and permanent good digestion through Dr. Caldwell's offer to send any sufferer a free trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. He believes from watching for twenty years what it has done that it will cure any case of chronic constipation, indigestion and dyspepsia, sour stomach, torpid liver, heartburn, biliousness, sick headache and similar disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. It is pleasant to take, acts mildly but none the less effectively, on the stomach and bowels, and they like its agreeable taste. It is a vast improvement over griping salts and cathartic pills, which are simply a temporary relief, while Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a permanent cure. Thousands are buying it of their druggists at 50 cents and $1 a bottle, but those who have never used it should write the Doctor for a free trial bottle so that they can make a test without expense. If you have a stomach, liver or bowel disorder, or any member of your family has, send your address and a free bottle will be sent to your home, fully prepaid. In this way legions have been restored to health without a cent of cost. Read these letters and write today.

The Nation's Safeguard of Health
FOR EVERYBODY

For fifteen years I suffered from stomach trouble and constipation, until it seemed as if death were the only relief. I feel greatly benefited by its use and expect to continue using it until I am entirely cured. I am 48 years old and was afflicted with indigestion, liver trouble and general prostration, but am feeling better since I began using your medicine than I have for years before.—Mrs. Brick Flinchum, Jackson, Kentucky.

I received your sample bottle of Syrup Pepsin and after taking it I thought several bottles from my druggist. I find it a good remedy for indigestion, and also constipation. I don't regret the money I paid for it.—Ida A. Fortine, Grand Junction, Texas.

About four years ago I was taken ill with indigestion and stomach trouble. After trying several remedies I was induced to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. After taking one bottle I was entirely relieved, and have kept a bottle in my home since. I find it the finest stomach tonic I have ever used and clearly recommend it to all who have stomach trouble.—C. Fowler, Carson City, Mich.

I used your Syrup Pepsin last summer for indigestion, constipation and biliousness, and I find it the best medicine I have ever used.—Nora B. Hatfield, Zaima, Mo.

Medical Advice.
If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the Doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. For advice or the same address Dr. W. C. Caldwell, 107 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

tion which met in Paducah last week was slightly un-Democratic and contrary to the best policy and usages of the party."

Calloway Times.
The Calloway Times said:
"Under this head (Why and Wherefore) Judge Barry, late candidate for state senator in the Second senatorial district, gives the workings of the convention that robbed him of the nomination. He states the facts plainly and honestly, and warns up the whisky ring, the News-Democrat, Jack Fisher, etc. He says the nomination was literally bought by the whisky element, which, he claims, owns and dominates the newspaper that assisted in the robbery. He does not mince words either, but calls a spade a spade, and gives facts that cannot successfully be refuted."

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this liniment prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend makes the danger of child-birth less, and carries her safely through this critical period. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this remedy. Sold by druggists at 50c per bottle. Book mailed free to all exacting mothers.

"So you like him too much to stand in his way," he said meditatively.
"How does your father look at it?"
"He wants the lieutenant to marry me. He says he will fix it up all right. But he doesn't understand.
How could he?"
"You are doing just right," concurred the man hypocritically, "and you'll live to be glad you stood out." Now that both his enemies desired this thing he was set on preventing it regardless of the girl. "How did the lieutenant take it when you refused him?"
"He wouldn't take it at all. He only laughed and declared he would marry me anyhow." The very thought thrilled her.
"Does he know you love him?"
The tender, sobbing laugh she gave was ample answer.
"Well, what's your plan?"
"I—I don't know. I am so torn and twisted with it all that I can't plan, but I have thought I ought to go away."

"Good!" he said quickly, but his acquiescence, instead of soothing her,
had the contrary effect, and she burst out impulsively:
"Oh—I can't—I can't! I can't go away and never see him! I can't do it! I want to stay where he is! She had been holding herself in stubbornly, but at last gave way with reckless abandon. "Why wasn't I born white like other girls? I've never felt like an Indian. I've always dreamed and fancied I was different, and I am in my soul. I know I am! The white is so strong in me that it has killed the red, and I'm one of father's people. I'm not like the other two. They are brown and silent and as cold as little beads.
But I'm white and full of life all over.
They never see the men and women that I see in my dreams. They never have my visions of the beautiful snow white mother with the tender mouth and the sad eyes that always smile at me."

"You have visions of such things, eh?"
"Yes, but I came a generation late, that's all, and I've got that other woman's soul. I'm not a half breed. I'm not me at all. I'm Merridy—Merridy!
That's who I am."
Her face was turned away from him,
so that she did not notice the frightful effect her words had upon Stark.
"Where did you get that name?"
His voice was pitched in a different key now. Then after a moment he added, "From the story I told you at the mine that night, I suppose?"
"Oh, no," she answered. "I've always had it, though they call me Ne-
cia. Merridy was my father's mother.
I guess I'm like her in many ways, for I often imagine she is a part of me, that her spirit is mine. It's the only way I can account for the sights I see."

"Your father's mother?" he said mechanically. "That's queer." He seemed to be trying to shake himself free from something. "It's hereditary, I suppose. You have visions of a white woman, a woman named Merridy, eh?"
Suddenly his manner changed, and he spoke so roughly that she looked at him in vague alarm.
"How do you know? How do you know she was his mother?"
"He told me so."
Stark snarled. "He lied!"
"I can show you her wedding ring.
I've always worn it." She fumbled for the chain about her neck, but it eluded her trembling fingers. "It has her name in it—'From Dan to Merridy.'" Stark's hand darted forward and tore the thing from her shoulders. Then he thrust it under the lamp and glared at the inscription, while his fingers shook so that he could barely distinguish the words. His eyes were blazing and his face livid.

NeCIA cried out, but he dropped the ornament and seized her fiercely, lifting her from the chair to her feet.
Then with one swift, downward clutch
he laid hold of her dress at the left shoulder and ripped it half to her waist. A hoarse sound came from his throat, a cry half of amazement, half of triumph.
"Let me go! Let me go!" She struggled to free herself, but he held her in a viselike grip, while he peered closely at a bluish well down upon her back.
Then he let her slip from his grasp.

"Let me out of here!" the girl demanded imperiously.
more reasons than one. It will give you time to think it all over and know your own mind. I want to help you—I'm going to help you—because I've got an interest in you like you were mine."
Again he betrayed that strange, mirth-less amusement.
"There is no place for me to go," said NeCIA blankly, "except the mission, and I have no way of getting there."
"Don't you worry. I'll furnish the means, and you'd better go tonight!"
she flinched—"yes, tonight. There's no use prolonging your agony. I'll get a boat ready and send a trusty man with you. The current is swift, and if he rows well you can make it by tomorrow evening. That's only one night out, and I'll put some blankets aboard so you can wrap up and have a sleep."

"I must go back and get some clothes," she said, at which he would have demurred had he not seen that she could not travel in her present condition.

"Very well. But don't let anybody see you."

"Of course not."
"It's getting late, and your folks will be abed." He looked at his watch.
"Midnight! Be here in an hour!"
The light of sacrifice was in NeCIA's eyes, and her cheeks were blanched with the pallor of a great resolution.

"I'll be here in an hour," she said simply.

He let her out, closed the door after her and locked it; then, drawing a deep breath, he raised his clinched hands above his head and gave a great sigh of exaltation. Next he took out his six shooter and examined it carefully.
The shells did not suit him, so he filled the gun with new ones, loosened the three lower buttons of his vest and slid the weapon inside his trousers band;
then, facing the direction of Gale's trading post, he spoke aloud:
"I was a long time coming, Gaylord, but I'm here, and I've got you where I've wanted you these fifteen years!
Yes, and I've got you, too, Burrell! By heaven, this is my night!"
His lithe body became panther-like in poise, his bearing that of the most eating animal, and his face set in a fierce, exultant cruelty as he blew out his light and left the cabin.

How Farmers Can Help.

For this present year there seems to be no danger of overdoing in farming. There has been no overproduction in recent years in any single line, not even in cotton growing, which is most affected by fluctuations. In grain the tendency has been toward shortage and prices at this time are abnormal. It is to advantage to the farmer to keep them up by limiting production, for larger crops at lower prices, which still afford a good margin for profit, will bring him as much directly and be of greater indirect benefit in stimulating the demand for his products and cheapening the cost of others, for which he must pay in supplying his own needs. A good surplus for export will stimulate the trade activity of the country and facilitate industrial production at home as well as importation from abroad. It will contribute toward that general abundant which is the necessary basis of all material prosperity. The farmers should do their part in restoring activity.—New York Journal of Commerce.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.
It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Roosevelt Declares That Tolstoy's Theories Contain More Bad Than Good

One of the comic features of the political campaign last fall was the letter which Count Tolstoy wrote on behalf of Mr. Bryan. In this letter Count Tolstoy advocated the election of Mr. Bryan on the ground that he was the representative of the party of peace, of anti-militarism. From the point of view of American politics

NOTHING TO PAY

Hyomel is Guaranteed to Cure Catarrh or Money Back.

When you suffer horribly from catarrh and are constantly sniffing, hawking and spitting, and doing other disgusting things, remember there is a certain cure, called Hyomel (pronounced High-o-mee), which is guaranteed to cure.

Hyomel will give joyful relief to any catarrh sufferer in five minutes and it gives remarkable relief to consumptives.

Hyomel is medicated air prepared from the extracts taken from the giant eucalyptus trees of inland Australia, where catarrh or consumption are never known.

You breathe in this healing and antiseptic air through an inhaler and this air, with its peculiar soothing properties, passing over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane (for catarrh is a germ disease), kills the germ, allays the inflammation, and in a short time completely cures the disease.

A complete Hyomel outfit, which includes a hard rubber inhaler that will last a lifetime, and a bottle of Hyomel, costs only $1.00, extra bottles cost 50 cents. Sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Paducah by Gilbert's drug store, who guarantees it on the money back plan.

MI-ONA Cures Indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching, and cures all stomach disease or money back. Large box of tablets 50 cents. Druggists in all towns.

the incident possessed no importance beyond furnishing material for the humorous columns of the newspapers. But it had a certain real interest as indicating Count Tolstoy's worth as a moral guide. He advocated Mr. Bryan on the theory that Mr. Bryan represented peace and anti-militarism. Now there was but one point in the platform of either political party in 1908 which contained any element of menace to the peace of the world. This was the plank in the Bryanite platform which demanded the immediate exclusion by law of all Asiatic laborers, and therefore of the Japanese. Coupled with it was the utterly meaningless plank about the navy, which was, however, intended to convey the impression that we ought to have a navy only for the defense of our coasts—that is, a merely "defensive" navy, or, in other words, a quite worthless navy. Now I have shown in a preceding article that at this present time there is neither justification nor excuse for such a law—and this wholly without regard to what the future may show. This plank in Mr. Bryan's platform represented merely an idle threat, a wanton insult, and it was coupled with what was intended to be a declaration that the policy of upbuilding the navy, which had been so successfully carried on during the past dozen years, would be abandoned. Any man of common sense, therefore, ought to perceive the self-evident fact that the only menace to peace which was contained in any possible action by the American republic was that contained in the election of Mr. Bryan and the attempt to put into effect his platform. That Count Tolstoy did not see this affords a curious illustration of his complete inability to face facts; of his readiness to turn aside from the truth in the pursuit of any phantom, however foolish; and of the utter fatuity of those who treat him as a philosopher, whose philosophy should be, or could be, translated into action.

Count Tolstoy is a man of genius, a great novelist. "War and Peace," "Anna Karenina," "The Cossacks," "Sebastopol," are great books. As a novelist he has added materially to the sum of production of his generation. As a professional philosopher and moralist I doubt if his influence has really been very extensive among men of action; of course it has a certain weight among men who live only in the closet, in the library; and among the high-minded men of this type, who, because of their sheltered lives, naturally reject what is immoral, and do not have to deal with what is fantastic, in Tolstoy's teachings. It is probably that the really lofty side of these teachings gives them a certain sense of spiritual exaltation. But I have no question that whatever little influence Tolstoy has exerted among men of action has been great, for I think he has swayed or dominated only the feeble folk and the fantastic folk. No man who possesses both robust common sense and high ideals, and who strives to apply both in actual living, is affected by Tolstoy's teachings, save as he is affected by the teachings of hundreds of other men in whose writings there are occasional truths mixed with masses or what is commonplace or "wrongness. Strong men may gain something from Tolstoy's moral teachings, but only on condition that they are strong enough and sane enough to be repelled by those parts of his teachings which are foolish or immoral.

Weak persons are hurt by the teachings. Still, I think that the mere fact that these weak persons are influenced sufficiently to be married means that there was not in them a very great quantity of potential usefulness to mar. In the United States we suffer from grave moral dangers; but they are for the most part dangers which Tolstoy would neither perceive nor know how to combat. Moreover, the real and dreadful evils which do in fact share in his denunciation of an attack upon both good and evil are usually not evils which are of much moment among us. On the other hand, we are not liable to certain kinds of wickedness which there is real danger of his writings inculcating; for it is a lamentable fact that, as is so often the case with a certain type of mystical zealot, there is in him a dark streak which tells of moral perversion. That side of his teachings, which is partially manifested in the revolting "Kreutzer Sonata" can do exceedingly little damage in America, for it would appeal only to decadents; exactly as it could have come only from a man who, however high he may stand in certain respects, has in him certain dreadful qualities of the moral pervers.

Tolstoyism.

The usual effect of prolonged and excessive indulgence in Tolstoyism on American disciples is comic rather than serious. One of these disciples, for instance, not long ago wrote a book on American municipal problems, which ascribed our ethical and social shortcomings in municipal matters in part to the sin of "militarism." Now the mind of this particular writer, in making such a statement was influenced not in the least by what had actually occurred or was occurring in our cities, but by one of Tolstoy's theories which has no possible bearing upon American life. Militarism is a real factor for good or for evil in most European countries. In America it has not the smallest effect one way or the other; it is a negligible quantity. There are undoubtedly states of society where "militarism" is a grave evil, and there are plenty of circumstances in which the prime duty of man may be to strive against it. But it is not righteous war, not even war itself, which is the absolute evil, of the evil which is evil always and under all circumstances. Militarism which takes the form of a police force municipal or national, may be the prime factor for upholding peace and righteousness. Militarism is to be condemned or not purely according to the conditions. So eating horse meat is in itself a mere matter of taste; but the early Christian missionaries in Scandinavia found that serious evil sprang from the custom of eating horse meat in honor of Odin. It is literally true that our very grave municipal problems in New York or Chicago have no more to do with militarism than with eating the meat of horses that have been sacrificed to pagan deities; and a crusade against one habit, as an element in municipal reform, is just about as rational as would be a crusade against the other. Oliver Wendell Holmes said that it had taken a century to remove the lark from American literature; because the poets insisted upon writing, not about the birds they saw, but about the birds they had read of in the writings of other poets. Militarism as an evil in our social life is as purely a figment of the imagination as the skylark in our literature. Moreover, the fact that in spite of this total absence of militarism there is so much that is evil in our life, so much need for reform, ought to show persons who think that the destruction of militarism would bring about the millennium how completely they lack the sense of perspective.

Another disciple used to write poetry in defense of the Mahdi, apparently under the vague impression that this also was a protest against militarism and therefore in line with Tolstoy's teachings—as very possibly it was. Now, Mahdism was as hideous an exhibition of bloodthirsty cruelty, governmental tyranny, corruption and inefficiency, and "homicidal religious fanaticism as the world has ever seen. Its immediate result was to destroy over half the population in the area where it held sway, and to bring the most dreadful degradation and suffering to the remainder. It represented in the aggregate more wickedness, more wrong-doing, more human suffering, than all the wickedness, wrong-doing and suffering in all the Christian communities put together during the same period. It was characteristic of the fantastic perversion of morality which naturally results from the serious acceptance of Tolstoy as a moral teacher that one manifestation of this acceptance should have been a defense of Mahdism. Of course when the Anglo-Egyptian army overthrew Mahdism it conferred a boon upon all mankind, and most of all upon the wretched inhabitants of the Sudan.

In Russia.

So much for Tolstoyism in America, the only place where I have studied it in action, and where its effect, although insignificant for good, has been not much more significant for evil, being absurd rather than serious. As to the effect in Russia itself, I am not competent to speak. But the history of the Duma proved in the most emphatic way with the greatest danger to liberalism in Russia sprang from the fact that the liberals were saturated with just such folly as that taught by Tolstoy. The flat contradiction between his theory and practice in such matters as his preaching concerning the relations of the sexes, and also concerning private property—for of course it is an unlovely thing to profit by the private property of one's wife and children, while affecting to cast it aside—is explicable only by one of two very sad hypotheses, neither of which it is necessary here to discuss. The important point is that his preaching is compounded of some very beautiful and lofty sentiments, with much that is utterly fantastic, and with some things that are grossly immoral. The Duma fell far short of what its friends in other lands hoped for, just because it showed these very same traits, and because it failed to develop the power for practical common-sense work. There were plenty of members who could utter the loftiest moral sentiments, sentiments quite as lofty as those once uttered by Robespierre; but there was an insufficiency of members able and willing to go to work in practical fashion, able and willing to try to make society measurably better by cutting out the abuses that could be cut out, and by starting things on the right road, instead of insisting upon doing nothing unless they could immediately introduce the abuses of society out of hand with a millennium and reform all the jump. What was needed was a body of men like those who made our constitution; men accustomed to work with their fellows, accustomed to compromise; men who clung to high ideals, but who were imbued with the philosophy which Abraham Lincoln afterwards so strikingly exemplified, and were content to take the best possible where the best absolute could not be secured. This was the spirit of Washington and his associates in one great crisis of our national life, of Lincoln and his associates in the other great crisis. It is the only spirit from which it will ever be possible to secure good results in a free country; and it is the direct negation of Tolstoyism.

To minimize the chance of anything but willful misunderstanding, let me repeat that Tolstoy is a great writer, a great novelist; that the unconscious influence of his novels is probable, on the whole, good, even disregarding their standing as works of art; that even as a professional moralist and philosophical adviser of mankind in religious matters he has some excellent theories and on some points develops a noble and elevating teaching; but that taken as a whole, and if generally diffused, his moral and philosophical teachings, so far as they had any influence at all, would have an influence for bad; partly because on certain points they teach downright immorality, but much more because they tend to be both foolish and fantastic, and if logically applied would mean the extinction of humanity in a generation.

Roosevelt Declares That Tolstoy's Theories Contain More Bad Than Good

One of the comic features of the political campaign last fall was the letter which Count Tolstoy wrote on behalf of Mr. Bryan. In this letter Count Tolstoy advocated the election of Mr. Bryan on the ground that he was the representative of the party of peace, of anti-militarism. From the point of view of American politics

Hymel is Guaranteed to Cure Catarrh or Money Back.

When you suffer horribly from catarrh and are constantly sniffling, hawking and spitting, and doing other disgusting things, remember there is a certain cure, called Hymel (pronounced High-o-me), which is guaranteed to cure.

Hymel will give joyful relief to any catarrh sufferer in five minutes and it gives remarkable relief to consumptives.

Hymel is medicated air prepared from the extracts taken from the giant eucalyptus trees of inland Australia, where catarrh or consumption are never known.

You breathe in this healing and antiseptic air through an inhaler and this air, with its peculiar soothing properties, passing over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane (for catarrh is a germ disease), kills the germ, allays the inflammation, and in a short time completely cures the disease.

A complete Hymel outfit, which includes a hard rubber inhaler that will last a lifetime, and a bottle of Hymel, costs only $1.00, extra bottles cost 50 cents. Sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Paducah by Gilbert's drug store, who guarantees it on the money back plan.

novelist he has added materially to the sum of production of his generation. As a professional philosopher and moralist I doubt if his influence has really been very extensive among men of action; of course it has a certain weight among men who live only in the closet, in the library; and among the high-minded men of this type, who, because of their sheltered lives, naturally reject what is immoral, and do not have to deal with what is fantastic, in Tolstoy's teachings. It is probably that the really lofty side of these teachings gives them a certain sense of spiritual exaltation. But I have no question that whatever little influence Tolstoy has exerted among men of action has been for the worse, for evil. I do not think his influence over men of action has been great, for I think he has swayed or dominated only the feeble folk and the fantastic folk. No man who possesses both robust common sense and high ideals, and who strives to apply both in actual living, is affected by Tolstoy's teachings, save as he is affected by the teachings of hundreds of other men in whose writings there are occasional truths mixed with masses or what is commonplace or erroneous. Strong men may gain something from Tolstoy's moral teachings, but only on condition that they are strong enough and sane enough to be repelled by those parts of his teachings which are foolish or immoral. Weak persons are hurt by his teachings. Still, I think that the mere fact that these weak persons are influenced sufficiently to be married means that there was not in them a very great quantity of potential usefulness to mar. In the United States we suffer from grave moral dangers; but they are for the most part dangers which Tolstoy would neither perceive nor know how to combat. Moreover, the real and dreadful evils which do in fact share in his denunciation of an attack upon both good and evil are usually not evils which are of much moment among us. On the other hand, we are not liable to certain kinds of wickedness which there is real danger of his writings inculcating; for it is a lamentable fact that, as is so often the case with a certain type of mystical zealot, there is in him a dark streak which tells of moral perversion. That side of his teachings which is partially manifested in the revolting "Kreutzer Sonata" can do exceedingly little damage in America, for it would appeal only to decadents; exactly as it could have come only from a man who, however high he may stand in certain respects, has in him certain dreadful qualities of the moral pervers.

Tolstoyism.

The usual effect of prolonged and excessive indulgence in Tolstoyism on American disciples is comic rather than serious. One of these disciples, for instance, not long ago wrote a book on American municipal problems, which ascribed our ethical and social shortcomings in municipal matters in part to the sin of "militarism." Now the mind of this particular writer in making such a statement was influenced not in the least by what had actually occurred or was occurring in our cities, but by one of Tolstoy's theories which has no possible bearing upon American life. Militarism is a real factor for good or for evil in most European countries. In America it has not the smallest effect one way or the other; it is a negligible quantity. There are undoubtedly states of society where "militarism" is a grave evil, and there are plenty of circumstances in which the prime duty of man may be to strive against it. But it is not righteous war, not even war itself, which is the absolute evil, under all circumstances. Militarism which takes the form of a police force municipal or national, may be the prime factor for upholding peace and righteousness. Militarism is to be condemned or not purely according to the conditions. So eating horse meat is in itself a mere matter of taste; but the early Christian missionaries in Scandinavia found that serious evil sprang from the custom of eating horse meat in honor of Odin. It is literally true that our very grave municipal problems in New York or Chicago have no more to do with militarism than with eating the meat of horses that have been sacrificed to pagan deities; and a crusade against one habit, as an element in municipal reform, is just about as rational as would be a crusade against the other. Oliver Wendell Holmes said that it had taken a century to remove the lark from American literature; because the poets insisted upon writing, not about the birds they saw, but about the birds they had read of in the writings of other poets. Militarism as an evil in our social life is as purely a figment of the imagination as the skylark in our literature. Moreover, the fact that in spite of this total absence of militarism there is so much that is evil in our life, so much need for reform, ought to show persons who think that the destruction of militarism would bring about the millennium how completely they lack the sense of perspective.

Another disciple used to write poetry in defense of the Mahdi, apparently under the vague impression that this also was a protest against militarism and therefore in line with Tolstoy's teachings—as very possibly it was. Now, Mahdism was as hideous an exhibition of bloodthirsty cruelty, governmental tyranny, corruption and inefficiency, and "homeloid" religious fanaticism as the world has ever seen. Its immediate result was to destroy over half the population in the area where it held sway, and to bring the most dreadful degradation and suffering to the remainder. It represented in the aggregate more wickedness, more wrong-doing, more human suffering, than all the wickedness, wrong-doing and suffering in all the Christian communities put together during the same period. It was characteristic of the fantastic perversion of morality which naturally results from the serious acceptance of Tolstoy as a moral teacher that one manifestation of this acceptance should have been a defense of Mahdism. Of course when the Anglo-Egyptian army overthrew Mahdism it conferred a boon upon all mankind, and most of all upon the wretched inhabitants of the Sudan.

In Russia.

So much for Tolstoyism in America, the only place where I have studied it in action, and where its effect, although insignificant for good, has been not much more significant for evil, being absurd rather than serious.
